For insights from California political experts about the upcoming election, C.A.R.'s SVP of Government Affairs Sanjay Wagle hosts a Primary Election podcast episode of Unlocking California Politics: Unlocking 2022 Elections with two seasoned political consultants: Democratic strategist Josh Walters and Republican strategist Rob Stutzman. The strategists said it best during the podcast on how critical the election is and how influential REALTORS® are in encouraging clients and colleagues to vote. Want to Get Involved in Local Government?

C.A.R.'s Center for California Real Estate (CCRE) presents a new educational opportunity for C.A.R. members. The six-week workshop will be divided into two parts. The first three sessions explore how local governments operate, how they're funded, and how policy decisions get made. The following three sessions will focus on how to run for local office, including how to decide which office to run for, what to consider prior to deciding whether to run, how to run a campaign, raise funds and build political networks.
